

NAME:

Movie / Music Review

Congratulations! You have landed one of the most coveted jobs on the market today. You are getting paid to give your opinion!

That's right, you're a movie and music reviewer for a weekly magazine called The Good Stuff. Your latest work assignment is write a review of a movie or an album of music of your choice. This means, you need to sit down and enjoy a movie (at least 1hr. long) or an album of music (at least 30 min. long) and write a 1-page review for the magazine.

Important details:

1. The audience of The Good Stuff consists mostly of teen readers between the ages of 13 and 18. Make sure you keep the interests of your audience in mind.
2. Your review should be at least 300 words in length.
3. Decorate your review with colors and pictures, printed and/or drawn, like a magazine page.
4. Your reviews will be put up on walls or bulletin boards in the classroom/school, so make sure you are doing your best work.
5. Here are some suggestions to get started writing:
  - What is your overall impression of the movie/album?
  - What are the strengths and weaknesses of the movie/album?
  - Describe some key scenes or songs.
  - Give it a rating out of 10 and explain your reasons for your rating.
  - Who would you recommend it to? Why?
